We also require our contributors (data processors) to comply with the data security measures, and data is transmitted through secure channels. When selecting them, we pay particular attention to ensuring the security of your personal data when they process your personal data.

4. Your rights as a data subject

4.1. Right of access

You may at any time ask for information about whether or not your personal data is being processed. If it is, you have the right to receive a copy of your personal data and to enquire about:

- the purpose of data processing;
- what types of personal data we collect about you;
- to whom your personal data has been (or is to be) disclosed;
- the period for which your personal data will be stored;
- your rights to rectification, erasure, restriction, objection, complaint;
- data sources, if the data was not collected from you.

4.2. Right to rectification

You have the right at any time to ask for the rectification of your personal data if it has been incorrectly recorded or is otherwise inaccurate or if it has changed. If your details (e.g. your email address, contact phone number) change, please let us know providing your old (incorrect) and new (correct) data so that we can identify you.

4.3. Right to erasure

The GDPR allows you to request the erasure of your personal data in certain cases, and it is also mandatory for the controller. Such cases include where:

- we do not need your personal data any longer in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or processed;
- the legal basis for processing is your consent and you have withdrawn such consent;
- the legal basis for the data processing is the legitimate interest of Training360 Kft. and you successfully object to such data processing;
- personal data has been processed unlawfully;
- personal data shall be erased due to a legal requirement;
- the data was collected for direct marketing purposes and you object to this.

If your personal data has been made public, and we are obliged to erase it (subject to the available technology and the costs of erasure), we will take steps to inform the other data controllers that you have requested the erasure of the link to your personal data or any copy or duplicate of your data.

The right to erasure is not enforceable if the data processing is required for exercising the right of freedom of expression and information, due to statutory obligations (e.g. Adult Education Act, Vocational Training Act, Financial and Accounting Act and related regulations), in the interest of the public concerning public health, archiving in the interest of the public, in connection with the processing of data for scientific and historical research or statistical purposes, or for the enforcement of legal claims.

4.4. Right to restrict processing

Restricting data processing means that personal data must not be used for a certain period of time and must be stored separately until a decision is made on what to do with the data.

In the following cases, you may request that our company restrict data processing:

- while we are checking the accuracy of your personal data because you are disputing it;
- in case of unlawful data processing, if you request a restriction of use instead of erasure;
- we no longer need your personal data, but you need it to enforce your legal claim;
- while we review your objection request if you objected to the data processing.

You will be informed before the restriction of processing is lifted.

4.5. Right to data portability

If processing is based on your consent or the legal basis for the processing is the performance of the contract with you (see the individual privacy notices), and electronic processing is done, you may request that the personal data concerned be transmitted to you electronically and forwarded to another controller. Where this is technically viable, you may request that the data be transmitted directly to the other controller.

4.6. Right to object

You may object to the data processing if it is based on the legitimate interest of Training360 or a third party (see the individual privacy notices). If such legitimate interest is based on direct marketing, then in the event of an objection, we shall terminate the data processing.

If data processing is based on other legitimate interests and you object, Training360 will investigate whether or not the reasons and interests for which the data processing is needed take precedence over your interests and rights, or whether we need your personal data to enforce legal claims.

4.7. The right to file a complaint

You can file a complaint against the processing of your data by our Company which may be submitted to the Hungarian National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (address: 1125 Budapest, Szilágyi Erzsébet fasor 22/c., telephone: +36-1-391-1400, email: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu, website: www.naih.hu).

You are also entitled to pursue your claim at court.

5. Enforcing your rights

Data requests and any inquiries regarding data processing may be submitted to us via the following addresses (in Hungarian or in English language):

Training360 Korlátolt Felelősségű Társaság
Mailing address: 1117 Budapest, Budafoki út 56. A. ép. III. emelet
Email: adatvedelem@training360.com

We will inform you primarily electronically or in writing sending the relevant information to the contact address you provide. On request, we also provide verbal information on the processing of personal data.

The protection of your personal data requires us to verify that the request really comes from you. Therefore, if we receive a data request on your behalf from an (electronic) address that you have not previously notified to us, we will need to request some form of verification of your identity.

Requests for the exercise of the data subject's rights will be answered as soon as possible but in any case within one month of receipt of the request informing you of the action taken (e.g. erasure, rectification), provided that the identity of the requester can be established. Depending on the complexity of the request or the number of requests, this time limit may be extended up to a maximum of 2 months, which, however, shall be notified within one month of receipt of the request, giving reasons for such extension.

If we are unable to comply with your request, we will also notify you, together with the reasons therefor, within one month of receipt of the request reminding you of your right to lodge a complaint and seek judicial remedy.

We provide information concerning data processing as well as the response to requests related to the exercise of the rights listed above free of charge. However, where the request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, in particular because of its repetitive character, we are entitled to charge a reasonable fee or refuse to act on the request.

Any rectification, erasure or restriction action taken in response to a request will be communicated to all recipients (third parties, such as data processors) to whom the personal data has been disclosed, unless this is impossible or involves a disproportionate effort. At your request, we will notify you of these third parties so that you no longer need to contact them directly to rectify or erase your personal data.

Requests from data subjects shall be recorded, stating the date of receipt, the subject of the request, the name of the requester, the response to the request and the date on which the requested action was taken. The purpose of the register is to ensure that Training360 has the necessary evidence in any future legal dispute and its legal basis is the legitimate interest of the data controller in the protection of its rights (paragraph f of Article 6(1) of the GDPR). Duration of data processing: 5 years from taking action or rejecting the request. If you have submitted a request in connection with your personal data that is (also) processed by Microsoft Corporation (e.g., your Microsoft ID, vendor exams), we will notify Microsoft of the completion of your request or will contact them in case of doubt on whether the request can be satisfied.

In the event of a data breach that is likely to pose a significant risk to the rights of data subjects, we will promptly inform them personally or by a public announcement on the incident.

You can file your complaint relating to data processing with the Hungarian National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (address: 1125 Budapest, Szilágyi Erzsébet fasor 22/c., telephone: +36-1-391-1400, email: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu, website: www.naih.hu).
